Bank of America Master Teacher Award

Emporia State University established the Kansas Master Teacher awards in 1954. The awards are presented annually to teachers who have served the profession long and well and who also typify the outstanding qualities of earnest and conscientious teachers.

The university's Administrative Council originally developed the Kansas Master Teacher Award program in the early 1950s. Dr. Everett Rich, former chair of the English department, was the driving force behind the program.

The program was first discussed in 1952. Because of the illness and subsequent death of President David L. MacFarlane in 1953, nothing was done to establish the program until the following year. In 1954, with the support of Dr. Don Davis, the chair of the division of education, and the approval of the new president, John E. King, the first awards were made.

In the early days of the program, numerous faculty members and others connected with the college were involved in establishing policies and procedures. Dr. Davis added "Kansas" to the name. Rich suggested "distinguished," but that word was changed to "master." Ray Cremer, business manager, promoted a monetary award for the recipients, but Dr. King believed that watches were more appropriate, so watches were awarded. C.O. Wright, executive secretary of the Kansas State Teachers Association, suggested that local teacher associations or similar educational groups make the nominations. Dr. Rich coordinated publicity for the awards across the state.

The Kansas Master Teacher Award program expresses appreciation for the generosity of Bank of America. Since 1980, this Emporia bank has pledged over $100,000 to permanently endow the Kansas Master Teacher Awards. Bank of America and its senior officer, Carol Patterson, are committed to assisting Emporia State University in its efforts to excel. Each year, local teacher associations and school faculties nominate candidates for the awards. In February, a committee representing educational organizations from across Kansas selects the winners.

The 2006 selection committee included Janet Stramel, Kansas – NEA; Laura Kaiser, Kansas Congress of Parents; Wayne Engle, Kansas Association of School Boards; Joanne Jenks, Kansas – American Association of University Women; Iris Van Meter, Kansas State Board of Education; Troy Peters, Kansas Association for Colleges of Teacher Education; Jill Jones, Kappa Delta Pi (student representative); Trish Weidert, Former Master Teacher; Connie Neneman, Dodge City, and Larry Wayland, Overland Park, recipients of the 2005 Master Teacher Endowed Chair.

A committee of Emporia State University faculty and administrators coordinates local arrangements. The committee includes: Roy Mann, Tes Mehring, Sarah Stump, Sue Peterson, Lucie Eusey, Leo Pauls, Carol Patterson (Bank of America representative), Boyce Baumgardner, and Lori Mann, chairperson.

Information concerning the Kansas Master Teacher Award program is available on The Teachers College web site. Go to www.emporia.edu/teach and click on Kansas Master Teacher.

The William A. Black Kansas Master Teacher Endowed Chair

In 1984, the Black family of Broken Bow, Oklahoma established an endowed chair for Kansas Master Teachers. Each year, this permanently endowed fund provides a stipend for two Kansas Master Teachers to spend part of a semester at Emporia State University.

The master teachers selected teach classes and work with students who plan careers in education. The endowed chair provides a valuable experience for Emporia State students and a meaningful opportunity for the master teachers.

The William A. Black Kansas Master Teacher Endowed Chair was established by Marea Belfield Black to honor the Black family's lifelong dedication to public education. The endowed chair is named for her husband, Dr. William Albert Black.

The late Dr. Black (pictured above) was born November 25, 1897, in Green County, Missouri. He received his bachelor's degree in 1926 and his master's degree in 1934 from Emporia State University. He received his PhD in philosophy, education, and psychology from the University of Colorado. Black was nationally known for establishing junior colleges and for his work in school finance and curricula.

During his career, he served as president of the Pueblo (CO) Junior College, director of junior colleges and curriculum for the state of Washington, and as the head of the department of education and philosophy at Pittsburg State University. In 1962, while at Pittsburg State, he received the Kansas Master Teacher Award.

Black married Marea Belfield on November 7, 1920. The Black's son, William Vincent Black, was born March 31, 1922, and the family moved to Broken Bow, Oklahoma on March 1, 1973. Dr. Black died on October 12, 1983. Emporia State University is deeply grateful to the Black family for this generous contribution.

“I believe that knowledge is power... Knowledge, or education, has the potential to shape a learner’s future, and can affect the way a child views the world. It can help mold his character, empowering the child to determine his course in life,” said Jo Ellen Dambro, a fifth grade teacher of 20 years.

To help keep the course of her students’ lives on track, one of Mrs. Dambro’s achievements is the development and implementation of “Preparing for the Drug Free Years,” a parenting class about establishing family guidelines and policies about alcohol and drug use. “Jo Ellen realized the importance of keeping kids drug free and training parents,” a colleague said. “She was instrumental in keeping this class going, and enlisting the support of the principal, teachers, and parents.”

Southwest Elementary School
Pratt

“It is my goal that I truly come into each of (my students’) lives and in some small way leave a footprint on their hearts,” said Mrs. Karla Ewing, a fourth grade teacher with nearly 40 years teaching experience. “I take from each one of my students something that will leave their footprints on my heart to make me a teacher better able to understand and educate the students that will follow in their footsteps.”

Among Mrs. Ewing’s numerous efforts to blend classroom experiences with the world beyond it, was functioning as a key member of the team that developed the Outdoor Wildlife Learning Site (OWLS), a laboratory where students can observe the Kansas wildlife habitat.

“Without question she has been one of the most positive influences in my daughter’s life,” writes a parent. “It is her genuine concern for students that sets her apart from your average teacher.”

Elaine Bertels Fasulo
Meadow Lane Elementary School
Olathe

Mrs. Elaine “Lanie” Bertels Fasulo is known for “her leadership, her vision beyond the walls of her school building, and always focusing on the greater good for students as well as fellow educators.”

Serving as a professional speech pathologist for nearly 25 years, “her technical knowledge is exceptional, as is her ability to translate that knowledge into sound therapeutic practice and strategies,” writes a colleague.

Serving children with language/literacy deficits - including autism, the ability to relate to her students is her priority. “That connection with my students has always challenged me to find answers to impossible questions, energized me with the commitment to continue in this every-changing field, and has given me the overwhelming satisfaction of knowing that I have made a difference in the lives of many young students.”

Sherry Hutchcraft
Northwest Elementary School
Dodge City

According to education research, building on a person's prior knowledge of a topic is the number one factor in learning new things about the topic. Sherry Hutchcraft believes the topic she most needs to study is the people in her classroom. "I must become a researcher and spend time getting to know my students, not only academically so that I know where to begin instruction, but...personally as well."

As a second grade teacher in Dodge City, Mrs. Hutchcraft determined one way to understand her students was to study Spanish; she now teaches in a dual-language classroom and has a 100% attendance rate at her parent/teacher conferences. Her energy and enthusiasm as a teacher has earned her honors, including a $25,000 grant to encourage a partnership between her school and the county health department to promote health care for children.

"If I am energized, motivated, and excited about teaching...it will spill over to my students and great things can be accomplished."

Vicki O'Neal
Lincoln Elementary School
Baxter Springs

“Many of my students will never journey far from here. I seek ways to provide them with learning experiences any student from a large town or affluent school would have,” said Mrs. Vicki O’Neal.

Since 1972 Mrs. O’Neal has traveled great distances to incorporate the larger world into her second grade classroom. From South America to study the rain forest, to Japan to learn the culture, to going to The Johnson Space Center in Texas, she returns from each experience to share what she’s learned with her classroom and her school. Be it creating a rainforest in the library, or dropping off materials about a Space Camp scholarship to a former student of hers, she is admired for her dedication.

A former student writes, “She encourages students to try their best, to never give up, and to follow their dreams.”

Bob Peterson
Butler County Community College
El Dorado

Mr. Peterson equates his role as teacher as being as important as the role of the invisible rabbit in the play “Harvey.”

“As a teacher, I genuinely feel it is my responsibility never to impose my values onto the student, but to extract from the student her/his own sensibilities so that he/she may form an informed, individual viewpoint. I feel that if an observer sees me in one of my students I have not been successful as a teacher. I feel I’m only successful when an observer sees the student as unique, open, one of a kind.”

As the lead instructor of theatre at Butler County Community College since 1981, he has won three awards from the Kennedy Center and numerous awards for teaching, playwriting, performance, and direction from local, state and national organizations.

Marilyn K. Vaughan
Cottonwood Point Elementary School
Leawood

“Vaughansville” is the world students experience and colleagues witness as part of Mrs. Marilyn K. Vaughan’s classroom. A former student teacher of hers said, “I witnessed the great way of speaking and teaching about learning that Marilyn gives her students. She fosters an environment in which it is okay to be different and have different abilities.”

Mrs. Vaughn believes student learning is a journey allowing “the student to travel from what they know now to what they need to know in the future. My role as an educator is to build a bridge that will allow this journey to take place.”

With over 35 years of teaching experience, she has taught first grade for the last 15 years. In 2001 she became a National Board Certified Teacher and is highly involved with mentoring national board candidates in Kansas and nationwide.
